
EOEX PROSPECTING & BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT IMPLEMENTATION GUIDE

Business Unit: ARIELLA

Fashion Modelling Academy & Design School

1.0 Executive Summary for Prospecting

This guide is designed for the EOEX business development team. It provides a comprehensive, step-by-step framework for identifying, engaging, and converting stakeholders for Ariella, the dual-institution fashion education division of EOEX. Ariella addresses critical gaps in the global fashion education market by offering a unique combination of practical design education and comprehensive model training, underpinned by a strong focus on model rights, UGC content creation, and direct ecosystem integration with Cartésienes.

Ariella's core value proposition lies in solving the most urgent pain points of its stakeholders:

- Aspiring Models: Exploitation, unfair contracts, lack of education, and financial instability.
- Aspiring Designers: High cost of education, lack of practical skills, and difficulty breaking into the industry.
- Industry Partners: A shortage of trained, ethical, and industry-ready talent.

This guide will enable your team to target these stakeholders precisely, using resonant messaging and a deep understanding of their "on-the-job money drains" to demonstrate unparalleled value.

Portfolio Development	Professional portfolio development services through EOEX Studio.	A high-quality, professional portfolio that attracts top clients and agency interest.
Financial Instability	Financial literacy training and connection to Cartésienes for fair, transparent representation.	A more stable financial future and a clear pathway to earning fair compensation.

3.0 Step-by-Step Plan to Locate & Engage Stakeholders

This plan outlines how to apply the persona insights to proactively find and connect with Ariella's key stakeholders.

3.1 How to Find Aspiring Fashion Designers & Models (Aspiring Talent)

- Instagram & Social Media:
 - Search Strategy: Use hashtags like #fashionstudent, #fashiondesignstudent, #fashionschool, #aspiringmodel, #modelingstudent, #runwaymodels, #fashionportrait, #fashionillustration, #patternmaking. Search for fashion school accounts (Parsons, CSM, Polimoda, Istituto Marangoni, LCF, FIT).
 - Engagement: Follow, like, and comment on their work. Share insightful and supportive content about the realities of the fashion industry, the importance of practical skills, and model rights. Build authority by commenting on their challenges. For example: "As a model, the contract can be the scariest part. Did you know there are places that teach you how to read them? Check out our resources on model rights."
- LinkedIn:
 - Search Strategy: Use the People search with filters: "Fashion Design Student," "Fashion Student," "Model," "Aspiring Model." Filter by location

(Paris, London, Milan, New York) and schools (Parsons School of Design, London College of Fashion, etc.).

- Messaging: Connect with a personalized note referencing their school or projects. "Hi [Name], I saw your incredible [collection/post] and your journey as a fashion student at [School]. We're building a new kind of fashion academy in Paris focused on practical skills and breaking into the industry. Thought you might be interested."
- Other Sources:
 - Schools & Universities: Attend student shows, portfolio reviews, and career fairs at institutions like LCF, FIT, Parsons, and Polimoda.
 - Industry Events: Paris Fashion Week, Milan Fashion Week, London Fashion Week, and off-schedule events where young talent gathers.
 - Online Portfolios: Platforms like Behance, Dribbble, and 1Granary where students showcase their work.
 - Subreddits: Forums on Reddit such as r/fashion, r/Modeling, r/FashionDesign, and r/college are active communities.

3.2 How to Find Professional Models (Career Transition)

- Instagram & Social Media:
 - Search Strategy: Look for models using their portfolio or agency tags (e.g., @elitemodel, @imgmodels). Search hashtags like #editorialmodel, #commercialmodel, #runwaymodel, #modeldiaries.
 - Engagement: Follow established models and engage with their content. Comment on their career path and ask insightful questions. "Your editorial work is stunning. With 5+ years in the industry, are you thinking about what's next? We're helping models build sustainable careers beyond the runway."
- LinkedIn:
 - Search Strategy: Search for "Model" and filter by experience (3-10+ years). Target models who might be looking for a new agency or career transition.
- Other Sources:
 - Agency Rosters: Look at the rosters of major agencies (IMG, Elite, Ford) to identify established models.
 - Industry Publications: Follow industry news on models who have left their agencies or are making public career shifts.
 - Networking: Attend model-focused events, castings, and fashion weeks to meet talent directly.

3.3 How to Find Fashion Brand Employers & Talent Scouts (B2B)

- LinkedIn:
 - Search Strategy: Use Sales Navigator or People search for titles like "Creative Director," "Head of Design," "Talent Acquisition Fashion," "Casting Director," "Brand Marketing Manager." Filter by companies (Chanel, Dior, Louis Vuitton, Gucci, etc.) and by industry (Apparel & Fashion, Luxury Goods).
 - Messaging: Connect with a focus on their business challenges. "Hi [Name], I've been following [Brand]'s recent collection. As a Head of Design, I know the biggest challenge is finding talent that can both design and execute."

We're training a new generation of designers that are ready to step in on day one."

- Other Sources:
 - Industry Events: Paris Fashion Week, Première Vision, Who's Next.
 - Trade Publications: Read The Business of Fashion, Vogue Business, WWD for news on hiring and talent trends.
 - Casting Websites & Agencies: Talent agencies (like Cartésienes itself) and casting directors.

3.4 How to Find Fashion Educators

- LinkedIn:
 - Search Strategy: Search for "Fashion Professor," "Fashion Instructor," "Program Director Fashion," "Fashion Educator." Filter by schools like LCF, Parsons, FIT, Polimoda, Central Saint Martins.
 - Other Sources:
 - Academic Journals: Look at authors of papers on fashion education.
 - Educational Conferences: Attend conferences focused on fashion education and curriculum innovation.
 - Fashion Schools: Contact schools directly to get in touch with department heads and program directors.

4.0 Prospecting Canvas: List of Example Stakeholders & Resonant Messaging

The following is a simulation of a prospecting effort, applying the above plan to identify specific stakeholder types and generate resonant messaging.

High Priority: Priority Level 1 (Most Sensitive/High Value) These stakeholders are actively experiencing the most critical pain points (e.g., exploitation, high cost, skill gaps).

- Stakeholder (Aspiring Model): "ModelScout_Janet", an aspiring model on Instagram sharing her struggles with unethical agencies.
 - Resonant Message: "Janet, your experience with agencies trying to take 50% of your fee is exactly why we founded Ariella. We believe every model deserves to understand their rights and contracts before signing anything. We're building an academy that teaches you the business, so you never get exploited again. Let's talk about how to protect your future."
- Stakeholder (Aspiring Designer): "Marie.Design", a fashion student on LinkedIn commenting on the high cost of education.
 - Resonant Message: "Marie, the high cost of education is a massive barrier for so many talented designers. At Ariella, we offer a world-class design education in Paris at a fraction of the cost of schools like Parsons or CSM."

We're committed to making practical, industry-leading design education accessible. DM me for details on our scholarships."

- Stakeholder (Fashion Design Educator): "Prof. Isabelle F.", a program director at a UK fashion school concerned about curriculum relevance.
 - Resonant Message: "Hi Prof. Fontaine, our research shows that 65% of apparel firms are demanding 3D proficiency, yet most curricula are falling short. At Ariella, we've built a curriculum from the ground up to be 'AI-savvy' and digital-first. We'd love to collaborate on sharing best practices for modern fashion education."

Medium Priority: Priority Level 2 (Sensitive/Aware) These stakeholders are aware of their challenges and are beginning to look for solutions.

- Stakeholder (International Student): "Yuki.Tokyo", a Japanese student in Paris, feeling the financial pressure.
 - Resonant Message: "Yuki, studying abroad is such an incredible experience, but the financial pressure is real. At Ariella, we're building a supportive international student community that helps you navigate the costs and complexities of studying fashion in Paris. We offer flexible payment options and can connect you with the EOEX ecosystem for extra support."
- Stakeholder (Fashion Brand Employer (Model)): "Sophie Laurent", a Brand Marketing Manager looking for models with UGC skills.
 - Resonant Message: "Sophie, we know the struggle of finding models who can do more than just look good. The market is demanding UGC content creators, and that's a rare skill set. Our models are trained in content creation, personal branding, and UGC campaigns. They can drive your brand narrative and deliver results."

Low Priority: Priority Level 3 (Potential) These stakeholders could benefit from the solution but may not yet know it exists.

- Stakeholder (Fashion Brand Employer (Design)): "Jean-Pierre L.", a fashion designer who relies on traditional hiring pipelines.
 - Resonant Message: "Jean-Pierre, our research shows that the industry is facing a massive skills gap in digital design and sustainability. Our graduates at Ariella are trained in the exact skills (3D, CAD, sustainable design) that are changing the fashion landscape today. We could be your pipeline for the next generation of talent."
